

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org

The Wonders Of Wind

Next time you wash clothes in your household, try drying them outside. Let the wind do the work.

1. If you don't have a clothes line, find a spot outside where you can stretch a rope out to create a clothes line. You can even use a balcony.
2. If you don't have clothes pins, you can buy them at "big box" stores. They are cheap! (You can use your extra clothes pins for closing chip bags and more.)
3. After you or your parents have washed your clothes, take the wet clothes outside to hang them on the line.
4. Take them down when they are dry, fold them and put them away.

You have just helped save the Earth!

www.KidsforSavingEarth.org